Reading

12 Read the text. Underline the correct options. (10 marks)

- People saw / didn't see 3D films fifty years ago.
- Many film fans liked / didn't like them.
- You wear special effects / glasses at 3D films.
- Tickets for 3D / 2D films are more expensive.
- 3D films are / aren't popular at the moment.

The return of 3D

3D films aren't a new idea. They were in our cinemas fifty years ago. A lot of film fans thought they were bad quality. Now some of our favourite cartoon films are in three dimensions, so why did the film-makers start making them again?

3D films sell tickets and make money. Film fans enjoy wearing the glasses. They feel part of the action and can enjoy the special effects. It's more exciting than watching a film at home in 2D.

The worst thing about 3D films is that tickets are always more expensive than tickets for 2D films, but at the moment, film fans are happy to pay for them.
